LOWER BROADWAY CUT OUT OF THE DEWRY LINE OF MARCH.

Troops Will Proceed Straight Down Fifth Avenue from Fifty-ninth Street - As Least 34,000 Men Will Be in Line -High Prices for Seats and Windows. At the meeting yesterday of the Plan and Scope Committee, of the Dewey celebration. the route of the land parade was finally and definitely settled. Almost as soon as the meeting of the committee had begun, Major-Gen. Charles F. Ros proposed that the route already chosen, which brought the parade down Broadway from Madison Square to Union Square, should be changed so that the parade would go straight down Fifth avenue

from Fifty-ninth street to Washington Square,

His suggestion was adopted without a single dissenting vote. The route as now selected is as follows: From Grant's Tomb down Riverside Drive to Seventy-second street, to Central Park West (Eighth avenue), to Fifty-ninth street, to Fifth avenue, to Washington Square, on the south side of which the parade will be dismissed. The troops will march through the Dewey arch at Fifth avenue and Twenty-fourth street, near hich the reviewing stand is to be placed. Admiral Dewey will, according to the plans of the committee on land parade, ride in a carriage near the head of the line from Grant's Tomb to he reviewing stand. Gen. Ros said that so far he had received applications for places in the line of the land parade from 9,925 outside troops. Of those, he said, about 2,200 would come from New Jersey, and they would bear their own expenses while in the city. Gen. Roe's estimate of the troops in line was as follows:

From the Navy, 2,000 men; from the Army. 2,000; New York National Guard, 15,000; troops from other States, 10,000; brigade of Grand Army veterans, 1,500: Spanish War veterans, 2,500; ex-Confederates, 1,000. Acrding to these figures there will be fully 34,000 troops in line.

Gen. Roe said that he had about enough money to pay the expenses of the visiting troops, but the sub-committee on decorations. which was a part of his committee, would need about $2,500 more than had already been appropriated for that purpose. At Gen. Roe's suggestion a resolution was adopted thanking Sousa for his offer to bring his band here to lead the parade free of charge.

Acting Chairman Guggenheimer then read a suggestion, which, he said, came from a prominentcitizen. It proposed that the Olympia's tars should be met near Grant's Tomb as soon as they landed to participate in the land parade. by a corresponding number of "pretty young girls," who would pin on the uniform of each fackle a medal or badge commemorative of the celebration. Gen. Ros objected to the scheme because, as he said, it would tend to delay the land parade. The suggestion was referred to the Committee on Reception.

The committee then adopted a resolution asking the Police Department to admit to all public stands and steamboats the boys selling the official programme and to protect them in every possible way. Gen. Howard Carroll, when asked to report on the work of the Committee on the Naval Parade, took occasion to deny that there had been any desire in the minds of the President and his Cabinet to alight those preparing the celebration.

"On the contrary." said Gen. Carroll. "Lieutenant-Commander Fremont and I, who were in Washington the other day, know that the officials at Washington desire to do all they can, to help the celebration, and they are staying away because they do not wish their presence to shadow in the slightest respect the glory of the occasion. The President will not come because, as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy, he would outrank the Admiral, and the Admiral would be required to go to the President to be welcomed by him. The President has been very kind to us, and he has taken the trouble to send a personal request to every department at Washington to lend all sible assistance to us in the way of furnishing vessels and men for the parades."

Gen. Carroll said he wished to give public notice that the channel near Grant's Tomb was not wide enough to allow many vessels there at once, and he asked that he be allowed to request the Fire Department to have three fireboats in the parade. Gen. Carroll said the men on the fireboats would have orders to turn a stream of water on any craft that disobeyed the rules laid down by the committee.

Lewis Nixon reported that the Committee on and that he was negotiating for the use of ter taste for the Chief Magistrate to await the Admiral measuring fifty feet each way, and one of the Olympia. 100 feet square, and the members of the Cabinet have apparently obmotto "Welcome Home, Victorious Admiral." in twenty-foot letters, will be shown.

Mr. Guggenheimer announced that he would appoint School Commissioners Little, O'Brien and Robertson as a committee to arrange for the placing of several thousand schoolchildren on a large stand so as to form living letters, spelling the Admiral's name, and portraying the Admiral's flag. A letter was then read from the National Sculpture Society, the members of which are working on the Dewey arch at Madison Square. The sculptors gave notice that they would need about $3,500 more than they already had, as they had been compelled to pay more for workmen than would have been necessary if more time had been allowed. Their application was put on file.

A special meeting of the Council was held yesterday to consider the concurrent resolution man McCall, permitting the erection of platforms within the stoop lines by property owners along the line of march of the parade. The resolution was adopted.

In regard to the Chinamen on the Olympia, who would, ordinarily, be prevented from landing by the Chinese Exclusion act, a Custom House broker told the committee that he understood no arrangements had been made for the suspension of the act. Admiral Philip said he had been informed that there were fifteen Chinamen on the Olympia, but only three had not enlisted in this country. Gen. Carroll said that he would see to it that these three were permitted to land with all the rest in

The committee voted to ask Mrs. C.V. Gridley, the widow of the Olympia's former Captain, to be present at the celebration. She will be entertained as a guest of the city.

Chief Devery, who was present, said he wanted to know how the Admiral would be taken from the presentation exercises at the Jity Hall to the Claremont breakfast, or luncheon, in order that he might make police arrangements. The Chief said that the crowd would be so great that it would take two or three hours for the trip if the Admiral was orted by all the committee and guests in carriages, and he suggested that special elevated trains should carry the party to 125th street and Eighth avenue. It was decided that the Admiral should be taken in a carriage up Broadway to Madison Square and then over the rest of the land parade route, and that he should be escorted by not more than four carriages centaining members of the Reception Committee. The rest of the Committee and the city's guests will be taken to 125th street in a special elevated railroad train. It was explained by Mr. Nixon that many more people could thus see the Admiral than would otherwise be possible. At a meeting of the Committee on the Erection of Stands yesterday. Commander Joseph W. Kay of the Grand Army asked that a stand be built somewhere on Central Park West, at a point south of Seventy-second street, for the G. A. R. men, who will join the land parade at that point, in order not to fatigue themselves too much. His suggestion was adopted and stand will be built to hold about 1.750

G. A. R. men. Somebody sent a letter yesterday to Gen. Carroll asking that some measure be adopted to prevent the tugs and steamers from making a racket in the naval parade by continuous blowing of whistles. Gen. Carroll said that the boats in line would be asked to blow their whistles only when they were rounding the Olympia at Grant's Tomb. Gen. Carroll said that was all he could do, as there was no law against whistling, and if there was, it would surely be broken on such an occasion. The applications for seats on the public stands for the land parade are pouring in on the committee which has that part of the work in charge, and it was said yesterday that several hundred thousand had already been received. There are seats, however, for only about 25,000 persons on these stands, and a great many people will be disappointed. On the other hand, the speculators, who are planning to erect stands, are sure to furnish seats for many thousands. The speculators went to work securing options on vacant lots and vacant houses several weeks ago, and when it was decided that a section of Fifth avenue would be included in the route, at any rate, they began to advertise for patrons. agent of a vacant store on Fifth avenue said yesterday that as high as $350 had been offered for his store. which has only a few windows on the Fifth avenue side, and that he was holding out for more than double that sum. Any sum from $50 to $250 is asked for a room with three windows on Fifth avenue. Show windows on the ground floo are bringing as high as $350 apiece, and the price, according to the agents and speculators, is going up every day. One agent rented a corner house on Fifth avenue with a 25-foot window for $2,000 for one day. Seats on stands on Fifth avenue cost from $2 up, according to location. One agent had an offer of $2,500 for the privilege of erecting a stand on a 65-foot lot on the avenue, but he is waiting for some one to come along who will give him $3,000 for the privilege. On Riverside Drive several large stands will be erected, which can be used for both the land and naval parades. One agent, who controls twenty-two houses that are nearing completion near Riverside Drive, has been working his men night and day to put the front rooms in shape for spectators. He is asking from $50 to $75 for a room with three windows, and he thinks he is offering a special inducement inasmuch as the houses can be entered from the rear, out of the way of the crowds. Single seats on stands on Riverside Drive are selling at present for about $2. One of the stand agents, in discussing the question yesterday, said that he expected the price of the stand tickets to keep on going up for a week or more. "Then," said the agent, "I expect there will be a big drop in prices, in some cases any-way, because the average speculator would rather sell all his seats at a fair price than to hold on for big prices until the day of the celebration, and then run the risk of losing a good amount by rain. On the other hand, it may be that practically all the seats will be bought up a week before the celebration. We have already had hundreds of applications from people out of town, and the demand is increasing every day."

OUR DEWEY CELEBRATION.

Why the President and Members of the Cabinet Declined to Come.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.-Some surprise has been expressed in Administration circles that any criticism should be passed on the action of President McKinley or the members of the Cabinet for declining invitations to attend the Dewey celebration in New York. When the New York celebration was first talked of, it seemed probable that some members of the Cabinet and perhaps the President himself, would participate in it, but since the plans for a large reception to Admiral Dewey in Washington were developed it has been thought best that the leading officials of the Administration should await his arrival here, especially as the Washington demonstration will follow immediately

Moreover, since it became known that President McKinley would not go to New York it has been assumed in Washington that he had daclined the invitation chiefly on the well-established ground that the head of a Government does not, according to precedent, extend the first greeting to a person coming to the person is the head of a foreign government. As cold in The Sun on Monday last, this precedent was definitely established when the Infanta Eulalie, the personal and official representative of the Queen Regent of Spain. arrived in the United States in 1893, and she made the first call on President Cleveland. In the case of Admiral Dewey's return, some persons, who may or may not represent the President's feeling in the matter, represent that it must be considered in far better taste for the Chief Magfistrate to await the Admiral's arrival in Washington before greeting him. Consciously or otherwise the members of the Cabinet have apparently observed something like the same sentiment in declining the invitations to New York, thus dent was definitely established when the Infanta Eulalie, the personal and official representative of the Queen Regent of Spain. arrived in the United States in 1893, and she made the first call on President Cleveland. In Fireworks had obtained permission to use ident's feeling in the matter, represent Governor's Island for a pyrotechnical display that it must be considered in far betin declining the invitations to New York, thus following the example of the President.

The programme for the Washington celebration, as arranged by the local committee, provides for Admiral Dewsy's call at the Navy Department and at the White House to pay his respects, this to precede the parade and fire-

Jersey City's Part in the Dewey Celebration. Mayor Hoos of Jersey City yesterday received word from Quartermaster-General Donnelly of the New Jersey National Guard that the State would allow Jersey City the use of some cannon to fire salutes to Admiral Dewey on Sept. 29 when the naval parade passes up the Hudson, Mayor Hoos has also appointed a citizens' committee of 115 prominent men to be present when the salutes are fired. By resolution of the Board of Education all the public schools will be closed Sept. 29 in honor of Dewey.

Dewey Declines a Boston Invitation. Bosron, Sept. 15.-Miss Sarah W. Daggett, State Regent of the Massachusetts Daughters of the American Revolution received this morning a letter from Admiral Dewey dated Aug. 31. He regrets that his plans are so indefinite that it is impossible for him at present to make any arrangements to accept a reception in his honor, but he expresses to the Daughters of the association his thanks for their kindness in extending the invitation.

Dewey to Attend a Boston Banquet. BOSTON Sept. 15 - President Sheldon of the Norwich Alumni Association of this city has received a communication from Admiral Dewey in which he approves of the plans of the association to tender him a banquet on Nov. l, and says he expects to come to Boston some time the last of October.

WOOLEN BUSINESS BOOMING.

The American Company Unable to Take More Orders for Thirteen of Its Mills.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 15.-The American Woolen Company which absorbed the big Washington Mills at Lawrence, Phillips Mills at Fitchburg. Riverside. Weyboaset and Fletcher Mills here and at Oswego Falls. N. Y., together with about twenty other mills, last spring, has made an announcement to the trade that orders cannot be taken for the worsted goods produced in thirteen of the mills because all of the goods that can be produced in the next six months in the mills specified will be required to fill contracts already made.

The production of a year is divided in two classes, lightweight goods and heavy goods, each of which occupies about six months in making. It is the lightweight season which is just being entered upon, and which is already sold up so that further orders cannot be taken for the production of the mills mentioned. The mills producing worsteds and woolens here are running overtime, and some are running night and day, the business being in the best condition since 1883.

"Dan the Burglar" Caught Red Handed. Charles Murray, alias "Dan the Burglar," was caught by a policeman yesterday morning. climbing through the transom of a grocery store at 2370 Eighth avenue. He had stolen $2 (rom, the money drawer and his pockets were filled with crackers, ham and cigars. Two clerks sleeping in the rear of the store hadn't heard him. In the Harlem court he was held for examination,

DROUGHT IN UPPER HUDSON REGION. The River Would Be Dry but for the Water

From the Indian Lake Dam. SARATOGA, Sept. 15 .- The drought in the lower Adirondack region has reached a stage never before known by the oldest inhabitants. The upper Hudson River would be dry but for the water coming from the Indian Lake Dam, which was recently ordered to be opened daily by the Superintendent of Public Works and the State Engineer. The area affected by the drought extends over Hamilton, Warren and Saratoga countles. The locomotives on the Adirondack Railroad secured water to-day at North Creek and stations en route by syphoning it from the Hudson, which looks like a little stream with desert-like shores and banks. The entire population in North Creek is carrying water from the river in pails and buckets, as all wells are dry. Unless the Hudson holds out the villages and hamlets will be confronted by an alarming problem, for it will require copious rains to replenish the water supply. A number of industries dependent upon water power have been compelled to shut down. Old hunters who have traversed the upper Hudson region say that the drought is unprecedented.

Stones.

Bay Sypw. L. L. Sept. 15 .- A passenger train on the Long Island railroad ran into a barricade of stones that had been placed across the track near here yesterday, and the engine narrowly escaped being derailed. Engineer John Hogan saw the obstruction in time to reduce speed, but he was unable to bring the train to a stop before the locomotive struck the pile of stones. Boys are supposed to have put the stones on the track.

Probationary Policemen to Get Their Pay. The fifty probationary policemen whose pay has been held up since Sept. 1, will be paid to day. The Civil Service Commission at first refused to pass the policemen's payroll until the Police Roard made the appointment of John F. McLoughlin date from Aug. 1. Yesterday. however, the Civil Service Commissioners decided not to press the point and signed the REAL ESTATE NEWS.

The realty market returned to the duliness of the summer, yesterday, after one day of comparative activity. The business done either at private contract or in the auction room was of little importance. The few sales reported at private contract all involved dwelling houses. They were generally of a better class than those which have figured in recent sales.

In the auction room the day was particularly duli. Two offerings had been scheduled, but but only one was actually sold. It was a dwelling on East Sixtieth street, near Second avenue, sold under foreclosure by auctioneer Ryan for $18,187. There is a long list of offerings for Monday, and the week promises a little more activity.

The New York Investment and Improvement Company transferred the six lots on the northeast corner of Morningside avenue and 115th street to Albert W. Mott yesterday for a stated consideration of $100. The latter gave several mortgages oh the property.

An unusual mortgage, given by William Me-Cracken to Edwin Shuttleworth, was recorded yesterday. It was for $4,000, and was given on the property on the north side of 149th street, 100 feet east of Broadway. By its terms the mortgage is due as soon as a permanent loan is placed on the property. The seven-story office building, Nos. 42 and 44 New street, which has been the subject of a number of rumors, was transferred yesterday by James W. Golden to the Mutual Real Estate Company for a stated consideration of $1. James J. Corbett and his wife transferred to

Louis Brandt, for an expressed consideration of $100, the plot 112x90x70xirregular, on the west side of Jerome avenue, 517 feet south of 190th street. Hiram D. Faulkner is the buyer of No. 61

East Seventy-seventh street, the sale of which was reported yesterday.
